Escape of Gen. Hinte The Cleveland 'Plaindealer,' of the 24th, contains the particulars relative to the plot laid for Gen. Hinton, and his arrest and escape on Wednesday. He was arrested on a charge of robbing the mail of seventeen thousand dollars.

Several large packages of money have been abstracted from the mails

Hinton has been in the habit of travelling to and fro in the stages, professing always to be on business mail bags. He was suspected some time since, as several robberies took word was "passed along the line," purpose to be stolen out. Whenever it was known that the General be accompanied with one of these packages in the mail. If it passed wrapper was changed and sent in another direction.

At last the bait took. The old fellow after smelling around the hook ties of the marked money contained in these packages found on his person. He was examined and bound yawned to receive him, but the General didn't like the county accommodations. He had been used to stopthe best they afforded. The company, although select, was not precisedell House, and importuning the of that city. Post Master, was permitted to take up quarters there for the night, and a privileged guest.
